DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It is unclear what the term 'globular' means. The scope of claims 9-16, 18 is unclear since the preamble is now claiming a 'Method' step. These claims do not further limit the polishing agent of the independent claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1,2,5,6,7,8,9,10,13-16,18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Kwok et al.-6,261,476, alone.

Kwok et al. discloses using a hybrid slurry to polish or lap a substrate, wherein the slurry comprises silica and alumina powder, and wherein the ave. grain diameter of the silica is smaller than that of the alumina. In regard to 'globular-silica', this is believed to be met by Kwok. However, to substitute 'globular-silica' for silica in Kwok would have been an obvious design expedient since both are deemed functional equivalents and perform equally well in an abrasive slurry.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 17 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Minami-6,196,901 in view of Kwok et al..

Minami discloses lapping a wafer between an upper and lower turn table while supplying an abrasive polishing agent. Minami does not disclose the polishing agent being an alumina-silica combination. However, Kwok teaches polishing a wafer with a slurry, wherein the slurry comprises silica and alumina powder, and wherein the average grain diameter of the silica is smaller than that of the alumina. In regard to 'globular-silica', this is believed to be met by Kwok. However, to substitute 'globular-silica' for silica in Kwok would have been an obvious design expedient since both are deemed functional equivalents and perform equally well in an abrasive slurry.
